Refresh, Renew & Recharge

By Ben Rominske, minister

I do not know how many are aware and/or fully understand where I am going, what it is and why. The what: Polishing the Pulpit (PTP) is a “workshop for every member” that provides classes on a great variety of topics for men and women of all ages. It, as of late, has had over 5,000 people attend.

The why: There are two parts to why I am going to PTP and they are interconnected. I get to attend classes and listen to speakers discuss topics I want to study more, so I go to learn not just more about the Bible but how to be a better leader, husband, and Christian. So, my time there is not just about me and what I need spiritually, but about bettering myself for you as well.

The second part connected into that is those attending and speaking, and the fellowship I get to have with other brothers and sisters in Christ. I get to see friends and teachers from college, people from churches I’ve worked with or know of, and I get to make new friends!

The where: Sevierville, Tennessee, is the location where all of this occurs but that is not what is important. I’m certain anyone who attends could care less whether it’s there or somewhere else as long as it has ample room for all those that want to come. What matters is that this week there are thousands of Christians meeting together to take time to refresh, renew, and recharge.

I want to be at my best for God, for my wife, and for you all. I want to have boundless energy and enthusiasm, not because I am “younger”, but because of the excitement I have for the Lord and what he can do here at Watterson Trail. I feel things like PTP help me do that. Whether it be with Christians my age, Christians that are well-aged, or those with little age, I know I can learn and be encouraged. You better believe any chance I get I will be thinking about you all and praying, and if others ask about prayer requests, you will be mentioned.
