Only Time Will Tell

By Ben Rominske, minister

Lately I've been looking for a good clock to put on the back wall of the auditorium. It's important that people are able to tell the time for one reason or another. This past week at Polishing the Pulpit, every class had timers for the speakers due to the great amount of people moving around the convention center and the many classes needing to occur at the next time. Time is something we watch so closely and is the resource we can never get more of after we've used it.

1 Corinthians 14:40 says, "But all things should be done decently and in order." and I understand the need to keep to a schedule. All the while we must examine what our priorities are. Are we really fully focused on being out of service with just a margin of a few minutes? I understand reservations are made, activities and other matters may need to be attended to but how does that desire reflect our heart and motives?

I don't know about you but I can't think of anything better than gathering with the Lord's Church to honor our Creator, His sacrifice, and reinforce His teachings from His Word! The only other comparable matter I can truly think of is having a Bible study with souls seeking the Truth so then, hopefully, they can yearn for the times we congregate.

I hope and pray we strive to be people who desire to enjoy all the time we are together and do not seek to be away from one another. I suppose time will tell the true desires of our hearts. Hebrews 10:23-25 says, "Let us hold fast the confession of our hope without wavering, for he who promised is faithful. And let us consider how to stir up one another to love and good works, not neglecting to meet together, as is the habit of some, but encouraging one another, and all the more as you see the Day drawing near."
