By Ben Rominske,

Whether it was a back-to-school backpack drive where I worked in St. Louis, the back-to-school bash we had where I attended kindergarten through eighth grade, or the “Welcome Home” at Freed, there was always some excitement (and probably a lot of dread by students and teachers alike). I know many who were relieved upon graduation from high school to not have to go to class anymore, others were looking forward to more schooling.

I understand not everyone enjoys the rigors of school or the teaching style of many classrooms, but it cannot be denied that the follower of God is a lifelong student. Some are raised being taught about God and others seek Him out. A great deal of us were simply seeking the truth in order to follow only the Bible. Romans 15:3-4 says, “For whatever was written in former days was written for our instruction, that through endurance and through the encouragement of the Scriptures we might have hope. May the God of endurance and encouragement grant you to live in such harmony with one another, in accord with Christ Jesus”

Paul reminds the Romans, and us today, of how God’s Word instructs continually. While there in the letter he is referencing former writings we also understand the books of the New Testament instruct us just the same. His Word and Creation teach us what He has decided to reveal to us. We learn things about His nature (Romans 1:20), Salvation (Romans 5:6-11), and church structure (1 Timothy 3:1-13) just to name a few.

I hope and pray those aspiring to stand alone on the Word of God, strive to always learn from it. I realize calculus or geometry do not consistently transfer to the real world but what is more valuable than learning from God? “Gather the people to me, that I may let them hear my words, so that they may learn to fear me all the days that they live on the earth, and that they may teach their children so.” (Deuteronomy 4:10b).
