Daylight Has Been Saved!

by Ben Rominske, minister

It's that time of the year again! No, not Christmas. No, not Thanksgiving. Daylight Savings! Nothing seems to be changing with how we go about Daylight Savings, even after some Senate talk about changing how we do things here. With clocks being turned, cellphones making the change themselves, and all of us getting used to the hour change, there are some things we need to keep an eye on.

One thing we can focus on is how we use our time. Our own sleeping patterns and schedules may be thrown off for a little while as we go through the time change. As such, there is a possibility for us to neglect usual portions of our day. Will we forgo time we spend with God because of our sleep? I hope regardless of time changes and levels of fatigue we make God a priority.

Another thing I think of is the phrase "saving daylight". We serve the one who made day and night and who is the source of salvation and thus, the originator of saving. Psalm 27:1-2 says, "The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? The Lord is the stronghold of my life; of whom shall I be afraid?" When the sun rises and sets, may it remind us of the security that comes with the salvation offered through Christ, the light of the world and provider of life.
