Weather the Storm

From the desk of Ben Rominske, minister

Windy days,

Even with a nighttime haze.

All want to sleep,

The cows and the sheep.

Hear the pounding snow,

Eerily outside it will blow.

Rain now has covered a lonely crow.

By Paula Goldsmith

(the rest by Ben)

I have heard from multiple people and news sources of the winter weather that is coming soon. Rain before it freezes is never a good combination and can cause as many car accidents as personal ones just from walking around. Such a time of physical concern like what we might need for a snowstorm or making sure the pipes don't freeze also causes me to think about our spiritual wellbeing. We have weather reporters and apps that let us know what to expect in the coming hours and days.

When I think of the uncertainty of what might come, I think of the words in how the day of the Lord will come like a thief in the night (1 Thess. 5:2). While that should keep us in a proper perspective it is also true that hardships can come unsuspectingly as well. I wish we had a hardship radar and "future cast" that tells what the future might look like. The reality of it is that it is just not the case.

So, amidst the weather storms we have and amidst the storms of life we must whether, what are we to do? Proverbs 10:25 says, "When the storm passes through, the wicked are swept away, but the righteous are an everlasting foundation." The righteous do not withstand because of their own brilliance and self-righteousness but because of who they turn to. The Lord God. We all have personal storms to battle as well as the overall fight against sin. Let us use such times as these to reflect on how firmly we look to The King.
