New Year, New You?

From the desk of Ben Rominske, minister

Maybe you made a resolution, hopefully you've stuck to it thus far. If you didn't, I can understand that too. So often, we hear deals about gym memberships, various new phone plans, or a whole slew of other items. All these things are aimed at the mark of a new year being demonstrated by other new physical things.

In reality, newness is not a topic simply coined for marketing dollars. Long before Dick Clark and the New Year's ball drop celebration, people were being made new, and newness was found time and again. Whether it was a new covenant in Christ, a newer declaration of the older covenant, or even a new promised nation. The LORD God is who we should be looking for newness.

Many of us have already put on Christ in baptism and have been raised in a newness of life. We have put off the old self and become a new creation. We look to the one who makes all things new, as John the Apostle records in Revelation 21. As we go into this new year don't forget about your faith, as well as writing 2024 and not 2023.
