7 Letters to 7 Churches

From the desk of Ben Rominske, minister

This past week I got the blessing of going to the annual lectureship at Freed-Hardeman University. This year's theme focused on Revelation in a whole host of ways. Throughout Christendom, this book has divided and caused confusion. While this article is not the place for us to flesh out the various interpretive ideas, the first 3 chapters of Revelation are often the most talked about.

This is not only because we like epistle style texts, letters, but also how relatable these examples of churches can be. Whether it's being luke-warm, small but great, or alive in reputation but dead in reality, there's a lot that can be said. This article is not about those seven churches either. This article is about YOU. Watterson Trail as a congregation.

When I would see someone I had not seen for a while or if I was introducing myself to someone the question came up in various ways, "What are you doing for work?" I pulled out my handy dandy business cards, thank you to those who encouraged me to get them and helped with the design, I am the preacher at Watterson Trail Church of Christ in Louisville, Kentucky, And don't worry folks, I said Louisville right.

Some were not aware of us, given they lived quite far, but many did know! The comments were things like that's a good church and that's a good group of people. You all are known by your reputation! Even other's know of this congregation because of past minister's. I had one person even tell they had been in my house long before I had been there haha! Let us continue to embody a church that glorifies God and is headed by Christ.
